

Impact of COVID-19

30% of Albertans decided to try a new recreational activity during the pandemic. The activities they are still doing include:

● 16% of respondents visited a provincial park for the first time during the pandemic and almost 20% have gone back again!

● Many racialized people in Alberta tried gardening for the first time (or returned to gardening) during the pandemic.